

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for generating and displaying sequences of images on a vehicle-mounted display. One embodiment uses rotated display surfaces mounted on a vehicle rooftop. Another embodiment uses multi-pixel screens mounted or connected to generally horizontal or generally vertical surfaces of the vehicle adapted to display generated sequences of images. The multi-pixel screens are easily added or removed from the vehicle-mounted display and are individually capable of displaying separate sequences of images.